INTRODUCTION

All Saints' Church, Daresbury, is known far beyond its parish boundaries as the place where Lewis Carroll, author of "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland", was baptised when his father was curate in the parish. The first church recorded on the site was built about 1150 and it is probable that burials have taken place continuously since that time. The tower of the present building survives from the church built about 1550. In 1870 - 1871 most of the church was rebuilt and monuments in and around the church were re-sited.

Ormerod's "History of the County Palatine and City of Chester" gives descriptions of some of the stones and brasses inside the church. It also states, "In the Harleian Mss. 2151 p.108 are Church Notes taken at Daresbury in 1572 which mention other coats (of arms) of HALLUM (HATTON?), DANIEL, DUTTON, WARBURTON, STARKEY, NORRIS, and ASTON and gravestones in the church marked with crosses the heads of which were florees and which had swords at the sides of them indicating most probably the sepulchres of crusaders". The Owen Mss. (in Manchester Central Library) contain notes made during the 1870 rebuilding. These have been used here to complete inscriptions that have become difficult to read and two inscriptions not found now have been included.

In 1973 gravestones in sections A, B, C and D and some near the church in E and F (see plan) were moved, used to make paths or removed from the graveyard. The inscriptions were recorded before the stones were moved and Canon Beckett has kindly supplied a copy of this transcript for inclusion here.

I hope that this is an acceptably accurate and useful transcript but many gravestones are badly worn and there are will almost certainly be errors in reading them. In a few cases where the surname was not clear the inscriptions have been checked with the burial registers.

The new section of the graveyard, opened in 1962, has not been recorded here. Inside the church, in the Daniell ("Lewis Carroll") Chapel, is a book of names of individuals and organisations from all over the world that subscribed to the fund to provide the stained glass memorial window to Lewis Carroll. These names have been arranged here in alphabetical order (Page 92). The window, designed by Geoffrey Webb, was dedicated in 1934.

I should like to thank the Rev. Canon Stanley Beckett, the Rev David Smith and Mr. N. G. Weddell (verger and guide at Daresbury Church) for their advice and the benefit of their local knowledge family history society members for help in transcribing and Mr. Torr O'Brien who was responsible for the initial printing and publication.

Two booklets, "Parish Church of All Saints Daresbury" published by Cheshire County Council (1987) and "Lewis Carroll and his Birth-Place, Daresbury" by the Rev. Victor Dams, M. A. and the Rev. Dyott W. Darwell, M. A. (1973) have been very helpful. The illustrations in this text have been reproduced from these booklets by kind permission of the Cheshire County Council and the Rev. Canon S. Beckett and the Rev. David Smith.

- While honest worth in solemn silence sleeps. That worth departed, sacred friendship keeps. Here droops a widow o'er an husband's bier: Here filial fondness sheds the graceful tear These last sad rites does kind esteem extend To him who, living, was the generous friend, To him who, living, bade the stream to flow Of love unasked and felt for other's woe. For a moment

lay aside

Cunning tricks

the children say,

Gentle children

long ago on

Christmas Day

Came a message

Still as Christmas

Tide comes round

They remember

it again

Echo still the Peace on earth
